Holiday Gift Ideas. You are invited!

My jewellery collection will be showcased in the main floor boutique at LA FAB, for one month, beginning November 24. Visit any time, 10 - 6. Closed on Mondays.

Chelsea Arts, Culture and Heritage Centre
212 ch. Old Chelsea, Chelsea, Quebec

My new studio space at La Fab in Chelsea is ready for you to see. I will be working in upstairs studio, at 212 Old Chelsea Road, right next to St. Stephen's Church.

I am designing a collection of jewellery using precious metal clay (PMC), a new way to work with metal. It was invented 15 years ago, so relatively new compared to the 20,000 years that jewellery has been around! Particles of metal are held in suspension in an organic binder. It's not really clay, but acts like it. PMC can be sculpted, textured and layered into any shape imaginable and then fired in a kiln. At a high temperature, the binder burns away and the metal particles fuse together in a process called sintering. The fired piece can then be finished using traditional metalsmithing techniques. So many possibilities!
